PREDETERMINATION OF LICENSURE

An individual with a criminal history may petition a board at any time, including before an individual starts or completes any mandatory education or training requirements, for a predetermination of whether the individual’s criminal history will likely disqualify the individual from obtaining a license.

For instructions on requesting a predetermination, please contact the office at (919) 567-2844 or email info@ncalb.org.

Pursuant to House Bill 770, which was ratified on June 28, 2019, Occupational Licensing Boards have the power to deny a license due to a criminal conviction pursuant to 93B-8.1(b)(b1). However, the following factors must be considered:

1. The level and seriousness of the crime.
2. The date of the crime.
3. The age of the person at the time of the crime.
4. The circumstances surrounding the commission of the crime, if known.
5. The nexus between the criminal conduct and the prospective duties of the applicant as a licensee.
6. The prison, jail, probation, parole, rehabilitation, and employment records of the applicant since the date the crime was committed.
6a. The completion of, or active participation in, rehabilitative drug or alcohol treatment.
6b. A Certification of Relief granted pursuant to NCGA 15A-173.2.
7. The subsequent commission of a crime by the applicant.
8. Any affidavits or other written documents, including character references.

Please note the following for AUCTION FIRM LICENSE REQUIREMENTS

An “Auction Firm” is defined in N.C.G.S. § 85B-1(6) of the North Carolina Auctioneers Law. The requirements for auction firms are explained in N.C.G.S. § 85B-4.

Should you need a firm license in addition to your auctioneer’s license depends upon how you plan to operate your business. If you are uncertain, contact the NCALB office for guidance.

- Sole Proprietorship: A licensed auctioneer who is the sole owner of an auction business is not required to obtain an auction firm license, but is required to personally supervise all auction sales, sign all contracts, and review all advertisements.

- Partnership: Licensed auctioneers who are partners in an auction business are required to have an auction firm license, as are all other partnerships. This requirement includes partnerships involving spouses or other family members.

- Corporation: All corporations are required to obtain an auction firm license.

ESCROW ACCOUNT REQUIREMENTS

N.C.G.S. § 85B-7.1 Handling Clients Funds of the Auctioneers Law, and 21 NCAC 4B .0603 of the Rules and Regulations specifies the requirements concerning escrow accounts. Money, which has come into your possession through an auction sale, which is payable to the auctioneer or firm, and any portion that belongs to others, may not be commingled with your own under any circumstances N.C.G.S. § 85B-8(a)(7). In addition, such funds must be deposited in a trust or escrow account in a bank or savings and loan association located in North Carolina, within three business days of receiving the funds. Funds, which are disbursed to the seller on auction day, are not subject to the escrow account requirements; however, the Law and Rules specify certain record keeping requirements.

If you have any questions concerning these requirements or you determine that an auction firm application is needed, you should contact this office or visit www.ncalb.org.

North Carolina Auctioneer Examination Information

The Auctioneer Examination is given in Fuquay-Varina six times a year at the Board's office. Contact the office of the Licensing Board or the website www.ncalb.org if you have questions concerning specific examination dates and deadline filing dates.

The examination was designed to determine if an applicant for auctioneer license has the requisite ability and general knowledge to properly contract, organize, advertise, conduct, and settle a sale of goods or real estate at auction. The examination tests an applicant’s practical knowledge of the auction business, including fundamentals of auctioneering, contracts, advertising, settlement statements, and basic mathematics. Specific knowledge of the licensing law, rules and regulations is required, in addition to the Uniform Commercial Code relating to sell of goods at auction.

Approximately 45% of the examination relates to the North Carolina Auctioneers Law and Rules and Regulations of the Licensing Board; 15% concerns terms, conditions, procedures, and responsibilities associated with the general practice of auctioneering; 2% relates to real estate matters; 18% consists of mathematics; and, 20% involves a hypothetical sales situation that requires preparation of a contract, advertisement, and a final settlement statement.

Following a 15-minute orientation, a maximum of 3 1/2 hours is allowed to complete the written examination. Admission to the Examination Room is not permitted once the written examination has begun. The Licensing Board provides all necessary material, such as work paper and pencils. Although not provided, calculators may be used if they are noiseless battery (or solar) operated, and do not possess the capability to store and display words or require a paper tape-printing function to be utilized.

A numbering system is used for the assignment and grading of examinations in order to eliminate any possible prejudice or influence in determining an applicant’s score. The examination involves a possible score of 100 points with a required minimum score of 75 to pass the examination. Any person failing the examination for the first time will be re-scheduled for the next examination. No person shall be allowed to take the examination within six months after having failed it a second time.

Examinees must refrain from any conversation and from smoking, eating or drinking in the examination room. Examinees are honor bound to take the examination without referring to any written material and without giving or receiving assistance.

Contact the office of the North Carolina Auctioneer Licensing Board if additional information is needed.
